About Bill -

If you've spent more than two decades traveling throughout the Caribbean and all over the planet, does it influence the kind of music you write? In the case of GMA and Indieheaven artist Bill Mallia it has. That's not to say that his music is simply island cliché with a godly twist either. Bill's music is a little bit more like that feeling you get when you open your windows for the first time after a long, cold winter - it all just makes you feel good. The island influenced style of music that bill creates and performs has proven to be very marketable in the secular market and yet, there is no act on the contemporary Christian music scene duplicating his efforts.

When Bill is not travelling to someplace where the ocean water is over 70°, he can be found in the cape cod area - Plymouth to be exact. He plays the role of left-handed guitar guy/worship leader at the First Baptist Church Duxbury (Massachusetts) and spends his non-musical time as a husband, father, travel writer, web designer, fly fisherman, sailor and overall seeker of god's never-ending blessings.
